2. parody

4. metaphysical conceit

II. Short Answer Questions (30%)

1. In the fourth circle of the inferno in Divine Comedy, the pilgrim asked his master about what Fortune was. The master replied as follows. Please interpret the character of Fortune.

O foolish race of man,
how overwhelming is your ignorance!
Now listen while I tell you what she means:
that One, whose wisdom knows infinity,
made all the heaven and gave each one a guide,
and each sphere shining shines on all the others,
so light is spread with equal distribution:
for worldly splendors He decreed the same and ordained a guide and general mistress who would at her discretion shift the world's vain wealth from nation to nation, house to house,
with no chance of interference from mankind;

so while one nation rules, another falls,
according to whatever she decrees
(her sentence hidden like a snake in grass).

2. Shall I compare thee to a summer's day?
Thou art more lovely and more temperate:
Rough winds do shake the darling buds of May,
And summer's lease hath all too short a date:
Sometime too hot the eye of heaven shines,
And often is his gold complexion dimmed,
And every fair from fair sometime declines,
By chance, or nature's changing course untrimmed:
But thy eternal summer shall not fade,
Nor lose possession of that fair thou ow'st,
Nor shall death brag thou wander'st in his shade,
When in eternal lines to time thou grow'st,
 So long as men can breathe, or eyes can see,
 So long lives this, and this gives life to thee.

How does the structure of the sonnet relate to the logical progression of its argument?

III. Essay Question (50%)

1. Religion has played a prominent role in Western civilization; yet, there are various theological ideas embedded in literary works. Please elaborate the differences concerning the ideas of deities and their relation with man in Greek mythology and Hebrew Bible.
2. What central philosophical and moral questions does The Praise of Folly examine? Why does Desiderius Erasmus use flippant, humorous satire to express the ideas of the work?
